

COUNTY SANATORIUM
COLDLY VOTED DOWN
AFTER LONG DEBATE

SUPERVISORS DECLINE TO MAKE
APPROPRIATION OF $20,000
FOR NEW INSTITUTION
BY 26 TO 12 VOTE.

DON'T ACCEPT REPORT

Even Refuse to Accept Report of Special Committee Which Investigated Proposition—Some Heated Remarks.

Rock county supervisors, after an extended and somewhat heated discussion of the matter of a tuberculosis sanatorium, coldly and without the least show of enthusiasm or sentiment, voted against an appropriation of $20,000 for such an institution at the session this afternoon. The vote stood 26 to 12.

The supervisors who voted against the proposition were: Supervisors Barker, Rosow, Clemenson, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Hansen, Harper, Hopkins, McGee, Marquard, Maxon, Bennett, Mosely, Newhouse, Overton, Ratham, Rehfeld, Roach, Richardson, Ross, Stoney Swingle, Tollefson and Broadway.

Those who voted aye were: Supervisors Gottle, Heddles, Gleason, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, McEvoy, Sherman, Tullar, Steele, Porter, Wilford and Chairman Gray.

Fail to Adopt Report.
Even on the adoption of the report of the special committee the board voted in the negative. This vote stood 22 to 16 against the adoption of the report which contained the recommendations for the county hospital.

Notwithstanding this Mr. Gottle introduced his resolution providing for the appropriation, although it was inevitable that it would be voted down decisively. It served to put the supervisors on record, however, which was evidently Mr. Gottle's intention.

The discussion previous to the votes this afternoon proved somewhat heated at times. Mr. Gottle in an oratorical outburst charged Mr. Richardson and others with dilatory tactics. He declared that the county board was intelligent enough to take up this problem now and cope with it without waiting for any advice or assistance from other counties. He favored a sanatorium in the interests of humanity.

Committee Members Talk.
Supervisors C. M. Smith, Simon Smith and S. B. Heddles, all of whom were members of the committee, took occasion to express their views. Simon Smith declared it was not a matter of expense; it was a question of human life. He declared it would cost the county just as much if they didn't erect a sanatorium because there would be the expense of an additional number at Waukesha.

Mr. Heddles said the committee had gone into the matter impartially and thoroughly and he thought their decision was entitled to respect, especially after the board in a vote of sentiment at the November session had favored the project.

Miss Tate, Mrs. J. B. Day, president of the local anti-tuberculosis society, and Miss Agnes Anderson, the visiting nurse, spoke to the board, but their efforts were plainly wasted. The supervisors had clearly made up their minds long before and no amount of argument could change their decision.

Gottle Opens Discussion.
Supervisor L. E. Gottle opened the discussion with reference to the county tuberculosis sanatorium, when the time for that special order of business arrived at eleven o'clock this morning. Mr. Gottle, who was chairman of the committee, whose report on the sanatorium was submitted yesterday, spoke at some length in favor of the establishment of such an institution.

He first pointed to the figures which show the prevalence of the disease in the county and the possibilities of treatment and cure which had been obtained in New York state and in Germany, France and England. He insisted that the erection of such a hospital was necessary and justified from an educational standpoint alone, although there were other important considerations. A sanatorium would be a means of teaching the public and especially those afflicted with tuberculosis, how to take care of themselves and prevent infection and the spread of the disease.

No Need of Postponement.
Mr. Gottle declared he could see no need or postponing action on the matter, especially if one admitted the deplorable conditions which existed in the county with reference to the disease. The erection of a sanatorium for the case of patients in the second stages was a matter of public protection and the expense of establishing and maintaining the same was a trivial matter compared with the unquestionable benefit to humanity.

Some of the details of the proposed sanatorium were also treated by Mr. Gottle in the course of his remarks. He was interrupted on several occasions to answer questions. The supervisors were intensely interested in the matter, although it was plain to see that the majority had already made up their minds for or against the proposition. It was plain that the vote would be close but defeat seemed not unlikely in the estimation of many.

Richardson on Opposition.
Supervisor Richardson of this city early appeared on the scene as one of the leaders of the opposition. He asked a number of questions during Mr. Gottle's address and immediately asked for the floor when the Edgerton supervisor had finished. Mr. Richardson objected to the conclusions of the argument made by Mr. Gottle that the sanatoria in the foreign countries had caused the decline in death rate from tuberculosis. He maintained that such a statement was an assumption pure and simple. Mr. Richardson also went into the matter of the expense of the county sanatorium. Aside from the initial cost of erection placed at $20,000, the expense of caring for sixteen patients for one year at $3 a week would amount to nearly $7,000. Of course there was the matter of state aid to be reckoned with.

Miss Tate Takes Floor.
Miss Tate, who has engineered practically every county sanatorium proposition which has thus far been put through in the state and who represents the state anti-tuberculosis society, was present during a hearing following Mr. Richardson's remarks. She emphasized the fact that the sanatoria were open not only to indigent but also to private or "pay" patients. Mr. Richardson objected that the hospital would easily be filled with indigent persons and there would be no room for others. Mr. Gottle asked if that was an argument in favor of a larger building than proposed.

The question of compulsory confinement in the hospital on the part of persons who were seriously and dangerously afflicted with the disease was brought up by Supervisor Rosow. It was stated that the present law had no compulsion about it but that it could be so drafted that the sanatorium would be filled. All the new hospitals now being erected have large waiting lists.

The discussion became heated at times and it was plain that some time would be taken up with the matter this afternoon. The board adjourned until one o'clock. The session will continue over Friday.

Congress to Investigate Claims Made Relative to White Earth Reservation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Jan. 16.—Charges of gross frauds against the Indians on the White Earth reservation in Minnesota, that their physical and material condition is pitiful and that Major James McLaughlin, Indian inspector, did not properly guard the Indian interests in the allotment of lands, were made to the house today by a report by the committee on expenditures in the interior department.

It recommended that some remedy be found by congress for the present "anomalous situation by which the commissioner of Indian affairs has complete control over property worth $1,000,000,000 belonging to Indians of the various tribes in the United States. The report declares that the Chippewa and other Indians were defrauded of large tracts of land and standing timber of the White Earth reservation. The sale of the land to the committee "finds from undisputed authority, was fraudulent in the details of its accomplishments."

The committee further charges that "fraudulent partiality was shown by Simon Michelet, Indian allotting agent, in allotting the Indian timber under the law of 1905."

The best and most valuable pine allotments fell into the hands of those who were intended in advance to receive them," says the report. Investigations following this act the committee says, resulted in the sending out of an Indian agent, Thomas Downs, who "found the proceedings partial, unfair, and unjust."

BELOIT ASSEMBLYMAN

Believes Initiative and Referendum
Should Be Passed at Once.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—That the resolutions providing for the initiative and referendum should be passed early in the session so as not to be lost sight of when the rush of legislative business begins is the belief of Assemblyman C. D. Rosa of Beloit. He has presented both resolutions to the legislature and will ask for an early hearing so that they may be sent to the senate. Both resolutions were adopted by the legislature last year and it requires the approval of this legislature before they can be submitted to the people. If the resolutions pass the plan for adopting the initiative and referendum as a part of the constitution will be submitted to a vote of the people in November, 1914.

"I haven't any question but that the resolution will pass both houses," declared Assemblyman Rosa. "I consider it one of the most important pieces of legislation that will come before this session of the legislature. If adopted by the people, and I believe firmly that it will be, it will lodge for all time the government of our state in the hands of the whole people in a way that will make that government truly representative."

"The amendment will make it impossible for any faction or clique to make the laws and run the government of our great commonwealth in any other way than for the interest of a majority of the citizens. The majority may make mistakes at times, but they are entitled to make mistakes. No faction has any right to make mistakes for them. I have a great and abiding faith in the rank and file of our citizens and I have no question that in the long run the people of Wisconsin will govern themselves in a way that will always keep us in the vanguard of our sisterhood of commonwealths."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Jan. 16.—General Cipriano Castro's appeal from the decision of the immigration authorities of New York barring him from admission to the United States was received today by Secretary Nagel who will give it immediate consideration.

The secretary will first take up the decision of the special board of inquiry which held that Castro's refusal to answer certain questions relating to his alleged connection with the assassination of Gen. Paredes in Venezuela amounted to an admission of the commission of a crime involving moral turpitude or an obstruction to the legitimate efforts of administrative officers to ascertain facts to determine his right to enter.

In a similar case several months ago in which an Austrian immigrant refused to answer questions regarding a bank robbery with which he was said to have been connected, Secretary Nagel sustained such a ruling. "The case went to the courts, but it was decided in the government's favor on another point."

It is expected Castro's case will reach the court and the far reaching question involved will be decided judiciously for the first time.

You have no excuse for buying "a cat in the bag" today. Those who take a chance with "something just as good" invariably get "something worse." Advertising eliminates risk. They must not only make customers but must keep them.

Bear this in mind when you read the advertisements in THE GAZETTE. The manufacturer, who advertises continuously and persistently, could not afford to do so unless his goods were such as to make customers and keep them. He invites you, through his advertising, to test his sincerity, knowing that one trial will make you a permanent customer.

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 16.—Evidence favorable to some of the 106 Korean prisoners charged with conspiring against the life of governor general Count Terachi was presented at the resumption of the trial here when three witnesses called for the purpose of proving alibis were examined.

Police Inspector Kumilomo was called to the witness stand and interrogated as to the alleged tortures inflicted on the prisoners. He entered an emphatic denial of all the stories to that effect, saying, "They are absolutely unfounded." Counsel for the defense argued that if the prisoners' previous statements made before the police and in which Christian missionaries were incriminated were not credited by the court, the other part of their statements must similarly be discredited.

The decision regarding the question of the competency of the court raised by the attorney for the defense is to be given on January 29.

TOLD OF LETTER SALE

Written Acknowledgment Was Made of Sale of Standard Oil Letters to a Newspaper in New York City.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A written acknowledgment purporting to have been signed by Charles Stump on August 1, 1905, that he disposed of certain Standard Oil letters to "Mr. Chamberlain" and "Mr. Mooney" of the New York Journal for a consideration was placed in evidence today before the senate campaign contribution committee by George Stump, brother of Charles. George Stump said he got his brother to sign the paper and witness it himself. The statement was addressed to E. Q. Barstow, 20 Broadway, New York.

George Stump testified also that the statement was prepared in the Standard Oil company's New York office after a interview between himself and his brother, and Barstow.

It was signed, he said, at his brother's home, and Fred Mohr, Jr., whose name was appended to the statement as a witness, was not present when either the witness or his brother signed it.

George Stump was unable to identify two letters which Mr. Archbald had testified to as having been returned. He believed they were not the ones he got from his brother and returned to Barstow.

The witness said that Charles Stump was dead, but that his brother-in-law, Charles Blumeling, referred to yesterday as "Zinner" was living. He testified that Blumeling and his brother Charles talked over the sale of the letters with him a year ago after the letters were taken. He said he was told that Blumeling was the man who went to the New York Journal to get the money for the letters. Blumeling is a traveling salesman living in Jersey City. The witness claimed he had never heard of Elledge or Eddy being connected with the purchase of the letters. They were mentioned in previous testimony.

Stump testified that after he had been subpoenaed to appear before the committee that before he testified he was approached by "Mr. Reynolds" in the capitol corridor with the statement he represented William R. Hearst.

"What did he say to you?" asked Senator Jones.

"He asked me what I knew about the matter," replied the witness. "I asked Mr. Hearst what he was interested. He said Mr. Hearst knew nothing of the purchase of letters, but his name was involved and he wanted to see what I knew. He also asked me if I had any letters or knew anyone who did."

Stump declared his brother Charles had been unable to tell him how much he got from the sale of the letters.

"He said it was a large sum, testified Stump. "The money went to go down every night or so and get the money."

CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT VIOLATED BY RECALL LEADERS?

"Veritas" Asks Why Expense Statements Have Not Been Filed, If Such Have Been Incurred in Campaign.

To the Editor:—A great many people are curious to know how those interested in the recall can carry on a campaign for weeks without filing the reports called for by the Corrupt Practices Act. If the reports are to be believed they have retained lawyers and contributed a large amount of money to the work of securing enough signatures to bring about the election. How these things can be done without the publicity called for by the law is a matter that has aroused general inquiry.

This law provides in substance that no disbursement shall be made for political purposes otherwise than as provided in the law, and in one section of the law it is provided that no act shall be deemed to be done for "political purposes" when it is done with the intent, or in such a way as to influence directly or indirectly voting at any election or primary election.

The law further provides that on the second Saturday after any committee has made a disbursement of incurred an obligation for "political purposes" and thereafter on the second Saturday of each calendar month, shall file a statement on oath, which statement shall cover all transactions not accounted for and reported upon in other statements filed.

Such a statement should give in detail everything of value over five ($5.00) dollars contributed to the movement together with the name of every person from which such contribution was received. It also provides that every disbursement of such money together with the name of the person to whom it was made, the date and the purpose for which it was made shall also be set forth. This Corrupt Practice Act provides in detail as to just how a campaign should be conducted and the publicity that should be given to all financial transactions connected with it.

This law also provides that any person violating any provision of the law shall upon conviction thereof be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than one month nor more than one year, or by imprisonment in the state prison for a period of not less than one year nor more than three years, or by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than $1,000.00 dollars or by both a fine and imprisonment.

An article printed in a morning paper speaks of the "Special Committee" backing the recall, picking the candidates and financing the opposition. From this it would seem that it would be easy for this committee to comply with the law.

The Corrupt Practice Act was passed in order that the public might know who was behind every political movement and that they might also know the source of the funds contributed to carry it on. This movement, however, seems to have gone ahead without any attention being paid to this law.

It might be well for, and it would seem to be the duty of those who have the responsibility of enforcing this law to make some investigation into the matter. Let the public know the facts.

LINK AND PIN REPORT TRAFFIC ON RAILROAD IS GOOD

St. Paul Railroad Doing Good Business for This Season of Year, Say Railroad Men.

Business on the St. Paul railroad, according to the statements of railroad men, is unusually good this season, considering the time of year and conditions reported prevailing on other roads. According to some of the railroad men, the road is running heavy trains on all the regular runs and occasionally an extra train. At this time of the year it is generally conceded, business has a tendency to fall off, and times are slack. On other lines, too, it is reported, the amount of traffic this year is smaller than usual. Various reasons for this are assigned, but the general opinion is that the large business houses are operating under a very conservative policy, and business is temporarily slack pending the inauguration of the incoming administration at the national capital.

Weather Troublesome.

Moist, damp weather, such as has prevailed yesterday and today, causes a good deal of trouble for the engine and train crews. The ice on the rails, thus, leaving their upper surfaces in a sort of greasy condition, and there is not sufficient moisture to wash this off. This grease is almost as bad as ice on the rails as far as being difficult for the wheels of the cars to secure a grip on it, and the crews must exercise extreme care in handling their trains.

WRECKED ENGINE TAKEN TO MILWAUKEE SHOPS TODAY

Engine 775 Which Went off Embankment Near Monticello, Killing Engineer Rooney, to be Repaired

Engine 775, the engine which figured in the wreck near Monticello on the night of Monday, January 6, in which Engineer James Rooney of this city was killed, was today towed to the shops of the rail road at Milwaukee. The engine with several stock cars which were broken up in the wreck was brought here several days ago from Monticello, and a set of trucks was put under the locomotive in order that it might be moved. It is so badly damaged that general repairs will have to be made. The cap and pilot were broken off, part of the sheathing of the cylinders torn off and other parts of the engine and tender badly damaged.

SAFETY SLOGAN ADOPTED BY ST. PAUL SYSTEM

All Employees of Railroad Now Wearing Eutton Bearing Slogan "Safety First"

Employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad engaged in the various branches of its service, now wear on their caps or on the lapels of their coats, a small button bearing the words, "Safety First," the official slogan adopted by the system. The use of this slogan is general throughout the system, and is the outward sign of the movement toward greater efforts for the safety of passengers, train crews and freight. The movement has been recently inaugurated, and as yet, railroad men state, is not fully organized, but is developing greater efficiency. Meetings of the railroad men on the various divisions running into this city, and on other divisions, as well, have been held, and the subject of means toward insuring safety was fully discussed and measures taken to bring about results. The idea is somewhat similar to that shown in the organization of safety committees on the Northwestern and other railroads.

DIED QUICKLY AFTER TAKEN OFF STREET

Henry Schrum, Well Known Town Character, Passes Away Just After Brought to Station.

Henry Schrum, a well known town character, removed from the street in a dying condition early last evening, breathed his last just after he was brought inside the corridor of the police station. Patrolman John Brown, while going from his beat to the police station at about six o'clock, noticed Schrum leaning against a building at the corner of Milwaukee and River streets, and showing evident signs of weakness and illness. He tried to help him to the station but he was not able to walk, so a passing vehicle was pressed into service. Schrum was able to walk with assistance from the wagon to the police station door, but was no sooner inside when he collapsed and expired before he ever regained his feet. Schrum was about forty-eight years old and had lived in Janesville for about five years. He worked as porter in several saloons and has been in bad health for a long time. Not having any means of a home he had lodged at the police station very frequently of late.

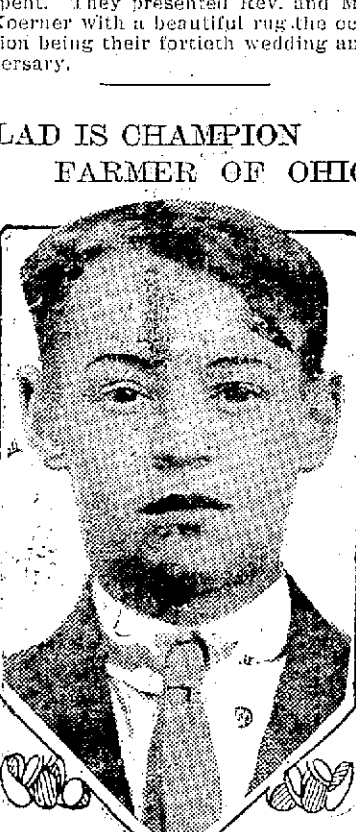

Chief of Police Anpholy telephoned news of the death of Henry Schrum to his brother, George Schrum of Platteville, who arrived here this morning to make arrangements for a funeral. The remains will be laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery tomorrow, the Rev. J. W. Laughlin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducting services at the chapel. Henry Schrum is survived by his mother and brother, George, of Platteville; a wife, from whom he was divorced, and a daughter. He was born in Rockville, Grant county, forty-eight years ago.

Katherine A. McCauley.

The remains will arrive in this city at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning over the Northwestern railway and funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church. Interment will be made in St. Olaf cemetery.

Given a Surprise: Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Koerner were surprised yesterday afternoon by the members of the ladies' society of St. Paul's church. There were about fifteen ladies present and an enjoyable afternoon was spent. They presented Rev. and Mrs. Koerner with a beautiful rug the occasion being their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Last season Dewey raised 139 bushels of corn on one acre of ground, a feat which was not equalled by any other farmer in Ohio, at least so far as known. He worked hard all summer and was rewarded for his toil by a prize and a free trip to Washington just before Christmas on the "Boy-Corn Growers' Special."

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried nearly every remedy, and doctor after doctor, but each relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and I have never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even paralyzed with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and find it does not cure you, I will refund your money. I have used it and you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Manager Stoval of the St. Louis Browns is taking some big chances. He has released all his catchers that may be classed as veterans, and next season will have but one experienced receiver, Alexander. Stoval will also be without veterans in the box. He may have something up his sleeve, but as we go to press the situation looks dark, especially for the latter end of the game.

Why Jack Powell, who for years has been one of the pitching mainstays of the St. Louis Americans, should have been sent to Louisville, no one seems exactly to know. Powell contends that in recognition of his long service for the St. Louis club he is at least entitled to pick a club for himself. Possibly one of the clubs in the big league would want him, if the Browns have no further use for his services.

Kid Julian, the hurricane Syracusean, is trying to be patient while waiting for matches. The kid seems to be having trouble in getting started, but he bids fair to upset things when once on the road. Patsy Kline was giddy with glee when Julian broke his arm on him three months ago. Julian says he's better than ever now after his long rest. Julian will box Ebbey Pittsley in Syracuse, February 16.

George Sutton and Willie Hoppe will fight it out for the 182 lb. bantamweight championship in New York city on February 5. Hoppe, the present champion, is said to be in excellent condition for the match, in fact, he is playing better now than ever before. Sutton, too, is in good form and is practicing every day.

The man who said Texans have no enterprise will now blush with shame. When it was announced that the Washington Nationals could not train at Charlottesville, Va., because of no rooming facilities, Brownsville, Texas, came to the front. Griffith didn't think much of taking his team so far from home. "Give me a slice of land, build a baseball park and a clubhouse," he told the Brownsville emissary, seeking to let him down easy. Griffith never imagined the Texans would do all this. But now word has been sent the Washington manager that all he asked will be granted. Griffith probably will back out, but he will be more careful in the future.

James McAllister, part owner of the Boston Red Sox, is having a whole lot of trouble getting signatures affixed to contracts. Since the players won the world's championship last year they've begun to think that they must be pretty nifty baseballists.

Another Cuban will bid for fame on the big league diamond for 1913. His name is Angel Gonzalez, and he will play with the Boston Braves. Says Pope Conte, sporting editor of the Havana La Prensa, writing from Havana: "Gonzalez has created a sensation in this city. I dare say there is not another backstop who can throw like this human flagpole. He has also acquired the art of hitting and is considered as fast as any of the men down here, and in my opinion is fast rounding into perfection."

Who will be boss of New York state during the next two years, Gov. Sulzer or Charles F. Murphy, head of Tammany Hall? Sulzer says he has been elected governor and will be governor. The Theatre

SCENE FROM "THE LITTLEST REBEL," AT MYERS THEATRE SATURDAY, JAN. 18, MATINEE AND NIGHT.

"THE LITTLEST REBEL," at the Myers Theatre, Saturday, January 18, matinee and evening, special return engagement.

Mr. Marshall Farnum will be seen in "The Littlest Rebel" under the direction of A. H. Woods. "The Littlest Rebel" is a stirring war play in four acts written by Edward Peple, author of "The Prince Chap," and is so constructed that it pleases all tastes from the lover of the romantic and sympathetic to the fan of things stirring and spectacular. The story of the play concerns little Virgie Cary, daughter of a Confederate scout who is being pursued by Northern troops. Cary visits his home and as the soldiers close in on the house, he escapes. The home is searched by Col. Morrison's cavalrymen and burned. Later, Mrs. Cary dies and the little girl is living alone in a cabin near Richmond, except for such visits as her father makes to time when he supplies his little girl with such food as he is able to obtain. It is on one of these visits that he is being surrounded and hides in the loft of the cabin, instructing little Virgie to tell the "Yanks" that he has gone. When the soldiers break down the door they find the little girl alone playing with a rag doll. A vain search of the house is made and Col. Morrison, who is commanding the searching party, questions Virgie. She, with cunning and adorable baby talk, fools the officer only to be outwitted by him later. The hiding place of the father is discovered, and the colonel commands him to come down. He is about to hand his prisoner over to his man to be taken to headquarters and there they are both court-martialed. The little rebel, as Virgie is called, appears before the general and makes a touching and pathetic plea for the lives of both men. The general listens to her story and becomes interested; he orders an investigation of the case which results in the pardon of both men.

"THE MILITARY GIRL"

Mr. Willie Dunlap and Miss Frances Warren will appear at Janesville, Thursday evening, January 23, in the new musical play "The Military Girl." This play, lyrics, words and music are from the fascelle pen of Cecil Lean. That Mr. Lean has accomplished with signal success the unusual task of writing both the music and book is amply attested in the fact that "The Military Girl" ran for five months in Chicago and aroused the enthusiastic praise of all the critics.

The story itself is a simple one which is concerned principally with the soldier boys of an encampment in the Adirondacks and the young ladies who go to make up the summer colony in a nearby fashionable resort. The "Military Girl" is a story which is being pursued by Northern troops. Cary visits his home and as the soldiers close in on the house, he escapes. The home is searched by Col. Morrison's cavalrymen and burned. Later, Mrs. Cary dies and the little second, the large, living room of a handsome summer home. Of the eight musical numbers in the first act the opening chorus "The Dawn of the New Born Day" and the number for the full chorus showing the young boys at their morning ablutions and the big number for the girls and boys "I'll Be There Dear" are the best of the ensembles, while Willie Dunlap wins many encores with his "Every Afternoon" and "The Flickering Filmy Made Plays" sung by Mr. Dunlap, Miss Warren, Mr. Thompson and Miss Merrill is one of the best novelties of the year and keeps the house in an uproar of mirth. In the second act the feature song is Miss Warren's dainty "Telephony" and for those who like syncopated melodies, "The Trombone Glide" is provided, sung by "us" with the girls as Pierrots and the boys as old time minstrel men. In this act also is the number which caused so much comment "The Recipe for Making Shows" in which the entire corps of military cadets dress as maids, waitresses, "show girls" and "brothers." In addition to Willie Dunlap and Frances Warren the company includes that "droll comedian" Sam Thompson, the pretty little Bessie Merrill, Jay Collins, Beth Hardy, Raymond Osborne and Dan Rogers. Ned Wayburn who staged "The Military Girl" has made the chorus one of the big features of the show and the wonderful march number at the close of the first act with its novel effects and surprises is considered one of the best examples of his remarkable skill in this direction.

"THE DIVORCE QUESTION"

Wm. Anthony McGuire's play "The Divorce Question" will be produced at Myers Theatre, Saturday, February 1, matinee and evening, special return engagement under the management of Rowland & Clifford. This gripping play was one of the sensational successes of the past season in Chicago. 107 performances being given at McVickers Theatre.

All intelligent people should be deeply interested in witnessing this great moral lesson. The play is a strong virile denunciation of modern conditions and every word counts for its full value as the story swings along to a big, startling conclusion. It is meretricious in its condemnation of those guilty of social neglect and there is no mistaking the meaning of the lines; they are at once indomitable and brave. The story of the play shows that pathetic phase of life wherein children are sacrificed to the selfishness of divorce; there is too much said about the duty that children owe their parents, far too little is said regarding the obligation of the parents. No human being has the right to become responsible for another's existence and then create conditions that ruin the life of that other being. A stupor, vibrating love story runs throughout, and a pair of youthful lovers furnish abundant comedy.

"BEVERLY." When George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly" is presented at Myers Theatre, Sunday January 19, matinee and evening, local playgoers will have an opportunity of enjoying one of the most delightful romantic plays of a decade, which has been favorably received in Buffalo, Toronto, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Chicago and is now in its fourth successful year under Mr. A. G. Delamater's management. "Beverly" is a dramatization of Mr. McCutcheon's story "Beverly of Graustark," by Robert M. Baker, who has adhered very closely to the story contained in the book with the result that he has succeeded admirably in retaining the atmosphere of the delightful little principal.

GOVERNMENT EXPRESS.

"It is announced that in his forthcoming annual report Postmaster General Hitchcock will recommend that the government take over and operate the express business of the country. It is added that Mr. Hitchcock probably will not make this recommendation as a new proposal but as an extension of the parcels post system. The fact that the postmaster general has arrived at the conclusion that the express companies must give away before the parcels post is repeated in this connection. Mr. Hitchcock is far from being alone in the conviction that the express business is passing from private into public control. What ordinary people cannot see, we think, is the government's need of taking over, or of having anything whatever to do with, the express companies. Those concerns have had their day. They have enjoyed profitable privileges and monopolies for years. Their shareholders have been for years in receipt of extraordinary dividends. Because they failed to perform acceptably the duties required of them in return for the privileges granted, it became necessary for the public to establish an express system of its own. This system, bearing the name of the parcels post, has now been established despite the opposition of the express companies and the powerful influences they were able to command, and it seems to us the very height of absurdity now to talk of compensating them at public expense for the losses they may sustain through government action that merely gives to the people the service that has become necessary.

"We can see no reason why the thought of governmental purchase of the express companies be entertained. They have nothing to sell that the government needs. Least of all have they any 'vested' or other rights, or privileges, or franchises, or good will, to exchange for federal cash. The government paid nothing to private message or letter carriers when it established the postal system. It paid nothing to the telegraph companies when it established the special delivery system. It paid nothing to the banks when it established the postal savings system. In establishing the parcel post it is simply developing the postoffice service. It is simply employing a function that had been at rest. It is simply asserting a right that it has always possessed. As to equipment, the government will need to develop its own. It would better install one that is suitable to its peculiar needs and entirely modern. The express companies, doubtless, have much property that it will be necessary for them to dispose of in the next few years, but they should not be permitted to unload it upon the government."

The Christian Science Monitor thus discusses the government and the express business. If the parcels post has come to stay—and it looks very much as though it had—it means a complete revolution in the express business, and the possible retirement of the companies from the field.

The railroad companies brought most of the trouble which they have experienced, upon themselves, and the express companies are in the same predicament. They have waxed fat at the expense of underpaid employees, and through extortionate rates. Had they been more considerate, and shown any disposition to serve the public at reasonable rates, the parcels post would not have been thought of.

THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

The work of securing subscriptions for improvements on the Y. M. C. A. building, is nearing completion, and the ready response which has rewarded the committee, is evidence of popular favor and substantial support.

In 1886 the late Ira D. Sankey, evangelist singer, donated to the city of Newcastle, Pa., the grounds and building for Y. M. C. A. work. The association has prospered, and the building has just been replaced by a modern structure, similar to what the Janesville building will be, when completed. An exchange, in commenting, says:

"Young men will be able to find excellent accommodations in the new home. There are sixty-eight bedrooms and numerous conveniences, such as dining facilities, gymnasium and swimming pool. The reading room and the billiard room are features that are expected to prove popular.

"Every effort will be made to let home atmosphere rule the place. There is a boy's department for boys of from 12 to 18 years."

The swimming pool and billiard room are attractive features of modern equipment, and in connection with a good bowling alley, will add greatly to the new home when completed.

The local organization is fortunate in having a board of directors who take a broad and sensible view of the amusement question. That it is appreciated by the young men of the city, as well as by the people generally, is not a question of doubt.

When the new building is finished the boys will be able to find recreation in wholesome environments, and the scope of the association's influence will be greatly enlarged.

The city of Superior shows a saving of $71,000 in the first nine months' experience under the commission form of government. The city of Ashland is about to vote on the plan, and other cities in the state are discussing the measure with interest. It is the only plan yet discovered to eliminate politics from municipal government, and if this was the only redeeming feature, it would be enough, but there are many others. It is a business proposition, from start to finish, and only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical.

Western people are clamoring for a reduction of the tariff on pretty much everything except meat and beef sugar, while the New England states are insistent that ample protection is needed on the goods they manufacture, and that includes about everything that is used in this country. The democratic south also wants protection, and the new administration will discover, early in the game, that the tariff is more of a local issue to day than ever before.

Elbert Hubbard, of Roycroft fame, has been taking liberties with the English language, and a Buffalo judge finds him guilty of sending immorality literature through the mails. The fine of one hundred dollars was cheerfully paid, and he was released on a promise to be good. Hubbard is a great writer, and if he would cut out vulgarity and irreverence, his popularity would be greatly enhanced.

The railway mail clerks have a grievance. Their work has been doubled, since the first of the year when the parcels post was established, with no extra pay and no help to handle the goods. The mail carrier is in about the same fix. Every day is Christmas with him now. The government has gone into the transportation business, on a large scale. The equipment to handle this new business is lacking, and complaint is heard all along the line.

A petition signed by twenty-five hundred voters has been presented to the council at Bloomington, Ill., asking for the repeal of the Sunday closing theatre ordinance. The issue was defeated by a narrow margin at the last election. The Sunday theatre seems to be in popular demand.

Suits aggregating ten million dollars have been brought against the steamship company which owned the ill-fated Titanic. Damages claimed are largely for loss of property.

The saloon men of Marietta are complaining, because an effort is being made to have them close their places of business on Sunday morning.

The city of Racine is still having trouble with "mashers" on the streets and the council seems to be in sympathy with the loafers.

APUR OF MOMENT

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

The bartender at the Golden Nugget hit Hod Peters with a cake of ice and Hod is going to have him arrested for carrying concealed weapons. Amos Butts, our gentlemanly and general underunker, also livery and feed and sales stables, is thinking some of putting in an automobile hearse, but what's the use? It would seem as though that is one time when a feller wouldn't be in any hurry.

Old Man Haskins is one of the best prophets in Hickeyville and environs. He predicted the long hard winter the time the pieplant froze and he predicted it almost as soon as it happened. He has seen Doan Stubbs' cow rubbin' up agin' the east side of the corn crib and he says this is a sure sign that we are either going to have a fine, mild, open-faced winter or a tight one. He will be able to tell exactly which about the first of April or maybe some time in March. Mr. Haskins predicted the San Francisco earthquake only twenty-four hours after it happened.

Uncle Ezra Harkins sets a pile of store by his false teeth, which he sent to Chicago for and in order to make 'em last long as possible and not wear 'em out at meal times he puts 'em in his pocket, puttin' 'em in his face agin as soon as he has finished eating. Uncle Ezra got his teeth from a mail order house and he had to bite on a piece of putty and send the impression of the interior of his face to the mail order house by express and the teeth got here the next day. They fitted him purty good excepting that he can't git his mouth shet and there is a gap about a quarter of an inch. He is some afraid that he will let cold wind into his face during the severe weather this winter and give him the influenza or the pneumonia, but he has decided to run the risk and be stylish if it kills him.

Whiskers.

(New York Scientist gives statistics to prove that long flowing whiskers have almost passed out of existence.)

I am the flowing whiskers that decorates the chin.

They say that I am passe. They tell me I'm all in.

They say my days are numbered, that I am of no use.

Except to harbor microbes and some tobacco juice.

They say I am a relic of ancient by-gone days.

That I've become an eye-sore, for sure, in various ways.

But I recall the era when I was quite the rage.

And every fellow wore me, regardless of his age.

Then I was omnipresent. I dangled in the soup.

I trailed through restaurant butter and no one cared a whoop.

You were quite sure to see me, no matter where you went.

And you would find me hanging on every president.

Remember Roscoe Conkling? He was a friend of mine.

And Grant and Hayes and Garfield? On them I sure looked fine.

And old Count Leo Tolstoy and Uncle Peter too.

Were certainly some famous for whiskers that they grew.

Upon the classic profile of old Jay Gould I hung.

I also decorated the face of Brigham Young.

To William Cullen Bryant I clung with might and main.

You also will remember me hanging on Jim Blaine.

Longfellow cultivated my friendship many years.

Walt Whitman he clung to me throughout this vale of tears.

And old Joaquin Miller braved blizzards of the west.

With me and never suffered a cold in throat or chest.

I've made the czar of Russia look somewhat like a man.

Old Leopold of Belgium he was one of my clan.

Although these days I'm greeted with most sarcastic grins.

I've shielded lots of statesmen who hadn't any chins.

They say I'm in the garbage; they say I am passe;

That I have served my purpose and I have seen my day.

But still, in spite of warning, it's pretty safe to bet.

When Gabriel blows his trumpet, I'll be on some men yet.

BARONESS FIGHTS TO KEEP HUSBAND

Baroness Natalie Von Klifus.

Cincinnati.—A tale that makes ordinary fiction look pale and weak is told by Baroness Natalie Von Klifus of Russia, former wife of Percy Proctor, wealthy Cincinnati clubman and traveler. The baroness recently arrived in this country and at once started proceedings to have annulled a divorce which Proctor secured here last June. In her petition to the court she sets forth that she was a passenger on the ill-fated Titanic, that the shock caused by the disaster resulted in her losing her mind, and that she was therefore unable to fight her husband's action.

Proctor met the Baroness Von Klifus while in Europe a few years ago and the two were married in London. They later came to America and then returned to France, where the baroness has a chateau. In France the two parted, Proctor returning to America. Proctor started divorce proceedings here in January last. His wife was notified of the action. She says she took passage on the Titanic; that she lost her mind on the night of the wreck, April 15 last, and did not recover it until some weeks later, in a London hospital. It was then too late, she says, to prevent a decree being granted to Proctor.

If the baroness succeeds in getting the divorce annulled she can start an action of her own and ask for alimony. About the time the couple parted Proctor gave the baroness $25,000.

An interesting point in connection with the case, which gives the baroness' story an added dash of romance, is that her name was not on the list of Titanic passengers and that her friends here had not heard until her very recent arrival in this city that she had started for America in April. Baroness Natalie Von Klifus.

Flourishing Frog Farm.

Miss Jas. Morgan, a Maryland girl, conducts what is probably the most unique enterprise in this country—a frog farm—and is making money out of it. She was a stenographer, but failing health compelled her to take up outdoor life. The full grown frogs bring from $1 to $4 a dozen when sold for food. Extra large specimens she sells to biological laboratories, receiving as much as $3 each for them.

FIRST AWARDS MADE FOR PRIZE POULTRY

JUDGING OF BLUE BLOODED FOWLS WILL PROBABLY NOT BE COMPLETED TODAY.

MANY BREEDS SHOWN

Wonderful Display of Feather Aristocracy Delights Crowds Which Throng Auditorium.

Feathered aristocracy is well represented at the Auditorium these midwinter days and to the stranger to chicken lore, the display is most bewildering. From the pen of the handsome turkeys to the tiny cages of the two costly canaries, one wanders and wonders at the immensity of the whole proposition.

All colored fowls known to fanciers are on display and almost all breeds of chicken shown. There are seventy-five different kinds of chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys and pigeons, we are politely informed by one of the attendants, and there is no reason to doubt the statement. In all, roughly estimated, one would judge that thirteen hundred different fowls were all trying to make their presence known at the same time, the general ensemble is not only deafening but bewildering.

One does not know what to look at first and finally resolves to start at one end of an aisle and walk down and look at one side only and then walk back looking at the other. But alas one resolves. One hears a comment about a bird on the other side of the row and quickly looks and then all the schedule is upset and you wonder about enjoying the whole show.

For the benefit of the layman it might be well if the different kinds of fowls were designated by printed cards. There are so many and after one leaves the show and hears some one ask, "did you see that prize cock in the White Wyandotte class?" you feel that you must say yes but you wonder what fowl was really meant. Of course to chicken fanciers each class is recognized easily but to the layman, the man who only knows chickens lay eggs and are good to eat, it is not too tough, it is confusing.

But to be serious every citizen of Janesville should attend this exhibit. It is not only a wonderful gathering of feathered creatures but it is also educational. The tiny bantam rooster with his proud little strut guarding his feathered mates of more somber hue to big Plymouth Rock who pokes his beak through the bars of his cage to investigate, are all intensely interesting.

The management of the association should receive well merited praise for their efforts and doubtless they will be satisfied if the public show their appreciation of the efforts bestowed to make the show what it is, the best in the middle west, by attendance. It is open each evening and during the day and the time spent there is well worth every minute you are in the hall.

First awards were made last evening and the judging of exhibits will probably be completed by tonight unless the handicap of a very dark day proves too severe. This will necessitate the use of artificial light or the removal of the fowls as they are judged to a position where the illumination is sufficient for careful examination. The attendance yesterday was good and the management reported it very pleasing.

Exhibits in five different breeds of chickens were judged and awarded places yesterday. They were the White Wyandotte, White Face Black Spanish, Single Comb Mottled Anconas, Silver Laced Wyandottes and Black Langshans.

White Wyandotte.
First award for cock in the White Wyandotte class was given to the Blossom Poultry farm, which also carried off first prizes for cockerel, hen and pullet, fourth place for hen, and the prize for first and second pens. A cock exhibited by J. C. Anderson won second place. Second for cockerel went to William L. Pinks, for hen and pullet and J. C. Jakes. Third awards were to H. L. Templeton for a cock, to George Jenck for cockerel and hen, and to J. C. Jakes for pullet. The latter also won fourth prize for a cock. L. Falter was awarded fourth place for cockerel, and George Jenck for a pullet. The pen of William J. Pinks got third place, and that of J. C. Jakes, fourth.

White Faced Black Spanish.
R. H. Martin carried off all the honors in the White Faced Black Spanish class, winning first prize for cockerel, and first, second and third for pullet.

Single Comb Mottled Anconas.
Competition in the Single Comb Mottled Anconas was between two exhibitors only, this being one of the less common breeds. C. F. Barker won second on cock, first and second on cockerel, second for hen, and first and second for pullet. Edward Buss was awarded first, third and fourth for hen.

Black Langshans.
The Rev. F. W. Schouffner, pastor of the Congregational church at Edgerton swept the boards with his exhibit of Black Langshans, winning first, second, third and fourth prizes for cock, cockerel, hen and pullet.

Silver Laced Wyandottes.
Three exhibitors shared in the awards for Silver Laced Wyandottes. G. F. Chapman got first and second for cock, third for hen and pullet. E. Sutherland received first, second, third and fourth awards for cockerel, second and fourth for hen, first and second and fourth for pullet. Third award for cock went to Earl Ballie. Fred Sutherland was given first prize, and F. J. Chapman second on his pen.

A public auction sale of birds on exhibition will be held in the auditorium on the afternoons of Friday and Saturday and many sales, high prices and lively bidding is anticipated. Some of the prize-winners will doubtless be among the birds offered for sale. W. L. Dooley will be the auctioneer.

What This Sale Means

Rehberg's Annual Sale and Its Money Saving Opportunities.

The man with limited means will find that his money will do far more than he expected. The mechanic will find that he can save a day's wages on an ordinary purchase. The mother, that her children can be clothed at an appreciable saving. It means that the large sum of money tied up in the stock will find its way into the pockets of the Janesville public through this sale. Owing to weather conditions the sale is greater from a money saving standpoint than ever before; we are offering richer values—better than we thought the sale could produce. It is a fine chance for thrifty folks; it is a big thing for Rehberg customers. Better than ever.

CALIFORNIA FREEZE AFFECTS MARKETS

Increased Prices in Lemons, Oranges and Other Western Fruits as Result of Short Crops.

As a result of the freezing weather in California which has caused heavy damage to the fruit crops there, the prices of lemons, oranges and other fruits from that section have been increased considerably. Wholesale prices to the local retailers have shown a considerable advance, and the retail prices will be raised accordingly. The price of lemons is about three dollars more per box than before, and oranges have gone up in price, since the freeze from a dollar and a half to two dollars per box. This means an increase in the prices paid by householders for lemons of five to ten cents a dozen, selling at from forty to forty-five cents a dozen, where the prices have been thirty-five and forty cents. The smaller varieties of oranges will be sold at thirty cents, the price now charged for the larger varieties, and the larger fruit will command from five to ten cents per dozen more.

There has been very little change in the distribution of atmospheric pressure since yesterday morning. The Atlantic anti-cyclone still extends over the Atlantic coast states and is the cause of fair weather in the southeast-ern states. The barometric depression in the Northwest has begun to divide. One part has moved eastward and is now crossing the Rockies, while the other part remains off the north Pacific coast. This disturbance has caused light snowfall in the states along the northern border, and rising temperatures in the middle and South-western states.

The barometer is high, and the temperature low in the Canadian north-west.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

Thoughtless Marriage

WHEN one considers how important a step marriage is, and how far-reaching upon life are its results, isn't it amazing how thoughtlessly people go into it—good, sensible people, too, your friends and mine. And of course, we know that these people are among the latest in the world.

A man, a widower with five children, took unto himself a second wife. He was a successful business man, and the judgment and knowledge required for this, combined with his previous marital experience, and the five children, would lead one to expect he would choose his second wife most carefully, one might almost say cautiously.

He married a neighbor and he had every opportunity to know her well. But she had not a single taste in common with him. The things he cared for, she disliked; and the things she was fond of were utterly distasteful to him. In the bargain, she did not like children, and she had quite a temper. The result was his home was pandemonium, though he used a much shorter word to express the state of affairs; and the two have now taken their troubles to the divorce court.

But isn't it amazing that he didn't exercise a little more common sense in the matter? There homes were adjoining. He saw her every day, and if he had used the discernment and judgment that he employed in his ordinary business affairs, surely he could have seen just what the outcome of such a union would be. But evidently he gave the matter no such serious practical thought. He either just let himself drift into matrimony, or else it was a case of profligacy.

But is matrimony a thing to drift into, or even to permit to come about as the result of profligacy?

Most of us have had the experience of finding much pleasure in the society of some one we are thrown with. But should we calmly and complacently accept this as the grand passion, without examining it more deeply? Surely marriage and its consequences are too serious matters to go into so superficially. More than a mere surface attraction is needed to carry two safely through its storms. If they are only bound together by the weak cord of profligacy, when the waves are high and the winds blow, they will most likely be beaten apart.

And unless there is a searching examination of one's heart and character as to the essentials of the real love that is the only safe foundation of marriage, one is apt to take the feeling that results from profligacy, or a mere superficial attraction, for this love.

That is where the trouble starts. From the evidence all about us, it would seem as if many do as this man did, marry really thoughtlessly—though they are far from thinking so. But the thought they give it is really superficial thought. It is often not thought, but merely emotion. But the cause for a truly happy marriage must go deeper than this.

The KITCHEN CABINET

IF THAT fresh late must trot all day, and shall scarce overtake his business at night; while laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him.

EVERY DAY FOOD.

The following are some of the common dishes which we like to know how to prepare well. When a piece of round steak seems to be hopeless, use the edge of a saucer and pound it until well cut, sprinkle with flour, season with salt and pepper and a bit of onion, and saute in a little butter until well browned, then cover with boiling water and just simmer on the back of the stove or, better, cook an hour or two in a fireless cooker.

Doughnuts.—During the winter there is nothing that tastes quite so good for breakfast as a good doughnut. The following is a well tested recipe: Beat together two eggs and a cup and three-fourths of sugar; beat until the sugar is dissolved, then add a half teaspoonful of salt, a cup and a fourth of sour milk and a fourth of a cup of sour cream, a teaspoonful of soda and nutmeg for flavoring. Use as little flour as possible for rolling and cutting, and chill the dough before rolling out.

Graham Gems.—To a cup of sifted graham flour add a cup of sour milk, an egg, a half teaspoon of salt, a teaspoonful of soda, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of shortening. Bake in gem pans.

Coffee Cake.—Warm three-fourths of a cup of shortening, beat three eggs very light, stir a half cup of sugar and a cup of raisins with the other ingredients into five cupfuls of bread sponge. Mix well, add flour and set to rise in a pan in which it is to bake. When light, spread with butter, sprinkle well with sugar and cinnamon and bake.

Popovers.—Sift together a cup of flour and a teaspoonful of salt; mix with a cup of milk and when smooth add two well beaten eggs. Bake in hot buttered pans. Too hot an oven will keep them from rising.

Rice Griddle Cakes.—Mix and sift a tablespoonful of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of salt, with two and a half cups of flour; add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, an egg and a cup and a half of milk with a half cup of cold cooked rice. Cook the same as any griddle cakes.

SHOT BY LOVER WHO SHOWS NO REMORSE

Miss Lucilla Roberts.

Miss Lucilla Roberts, 17-year-old high school girl of Clarksdale, Cal. is in a Santa Rosa hospital, suffering from three bullet wounds in the back, which were inflicted by Frank F. Carlisle, Santa Rosa station agent, whose attentions are refused. Carlisle shows no remorse and declares that should the girl die he would gladly give up his life on the scaffold.

Although in a serious condition Miss Roberts is expected to live.

Champagne Bottles.

Great skill is required in manufacturing champagne bottles, which must be almost mathematically even in the thickness of the glass. The glass must be perfectly smooth and the necks exact in every particular to insure perfect corking.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

"IF I HAD ONLY REALIZED."

IF I HAD only realized when I was a child how much more work it made to have people disorderly and careless about their things I am sure I should have been more careful. But I didn't realize.

That is the oft expressed sentiment of one young woman who has recently gone to housekeeping in a home of her own. And I fancy there are many of us who could say the same thing—we didn't realize. And not about that matter only but about many matters.

I have heard it said that children are naturally selfish. I beg to differ. I think they are naturally full of the most generous impulses. But I do admit that they are naturally thoughtless and that is what makes them seem selfish. It is not that they would be deliberately selfish and unkind; it is just that they have lived so short a time that they do not understand the trouble and pain and self-denial they may be the cause of—they just don't realize.

I once knew a wise mother who grasped this fact and based her training on the effort to make her children realize exactly what they were doing when they were thoughtless or careless or unreasonable.

For instance, take the very matter of which the young housewife spoke. This mother had a daughter who was terribly slack about leaving things around. She would come into the house and leave her coat on one chair and her fur on another, throw her gloves on the table and put her hat pins on the mantel-piece, and only put away her hat because she was afraid something would happen to the feathers if she didn't.

Her mother talked and talked to no avail. Finally she decided to make the daughter realize the trouble she was causing, so she told her that for the next week she, the mother, would not pick up one thing that any of the children left lying around, that her daughter must keep the house in order as a punishment for past misdeeds, and that if she failed to do so, she would not be allowed to go to a certain function to which she was looking forward. As all the other children inherited more or less tendency to disorderliness from an artistic father, her task was by no means easy. Needless to say, the end of the week found her saying, "I never realized how much trouble leaving things round made. I will be more careful in the future."

Again when the two older children got the habit of teasing for things that were beyond the family purse, this wise woman instead of scolding simply took them into her confidence about the family income and outgo, asked their help about keeping the accounts, and without saying a word of her purpose to them, soon made them realize for themselves why they could not have everything that other children had. And after that she had no more trouble with teasing.

Look back into your childhood and see if the unkind, the selfish, the thoughtless, the cruel things that you did were not all done because you did not realize.

What better basis then, could we have for training our children than helping them to realize now instead of years afterward when it is too late?

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—What could be done to a girl who is jealous of me?

(2)—What is the best way to test a boy's love?

(3)—I have been cross at a boy for some time. Please suggest the best remedy for making up.

(4)—If a girl gets cross at a boy who should speak first?

(5) What is the best way to get rid of a girl who is not wanted?

(6)—Is it proper for a boy to chaperone a girl home from a party or other amusements?

(7)—Just don't notice her. She is more unhappy than you are.

(8)—Time is the only sure test. If he loves you as much in five years as he does now, you may be pretty sure it's the real thing.

(9)—If the fault was yours just walk up to him, when you see him, tell him you're over your crossness and ask him if he will be friends with you again. Tell him you will try not to be unreasonable again.

(10)—This is answered in No. 3. (5)—Ignore her. (6)—If not too late at night, a respectable boy may escort a respectable girl home; but she ought to be chaperoned by some older member of her family.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16. Will you please advise me?

(1)—Should a girl let her fellow kiss her goodnight before her mother?

(2)—How can you tell when a fellow loves you? (3)—Is a girl of 17 old enough to get married? If she can cook, sew, and wash dishes clean?

(4)—Why isn't it right for a boy to kiss you? Is there any difference between kissing and shaking hands?

(5)—A boy in school who sits beside me is always winking or smiling every time I look at him. How can I make him stop because I don't care any more for him than a weed. (6)—When your beau proposes and asks you to be his wife without asking your folks about it, should you tell your ma on him? (7)—Don't you think it the best plan for young girls to stick to their lessons and let the fellows alone? (8)—Why are old maids jealous when a nice young fellow comes to town?

YOUNG GIRL.
(1)—Not unless the boy is engaged to the girl. (2)—By his respect and consideration for her. (3)—You need more than that to be fit for marriage. A girl should be at least 18 before marrying. (4)—It makes a girl cheap to allow any boy to kiss her. No boy wants to marry a girl who has been kissed by every Tom Dick and Harry, and if she has let him be free with her, without his asking her to marry him, he naturally thinks she has been free with everybody else. A girl should consider her kisses sacred and keep them all for the man she marries. If she does that, she will have nothing to regret. A kiss is an intimate caress. Shaking hands is very much like saying "How do you do?" to anybody.

(5)—Don't look at him. You might ask your teacher to change your seat. (6)—If you want to marry him, tell him to speak to your parents about it. If he doesn't do that at

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Answers to Inquiries.

An excellent bread starter: At noon save the potato water; when cool put in quart can (having the can two-thirds full), add one cake of compressed yeast dissolved and two table-spoons sugar; set in medium warm place till it ferments.

At night or in morning, whichever one prefers, stir up a stiff sponge by using as much warm water as you wish (I use three pints; it makes four nice loaves), and pour off the starter, but do not stir up yeast which has settled, as that is left to use again by just pouring on potato water and sugar. This one cake of yeast will make several bakings.

When sponge is light add small handful salt, one tablespoon lard; mix into hard loaf; when light put into small loaves.

Sandwich Ideas.

My husband "carries" his luncheon and it sometimes taxes my ingenuity to invent new sandwich "filling." I am sending some of my own.

Euked beans mixed with mayonnaise or prepared mustard spread between slices of salt-risen bread.

Dried beef chopped fine and mixed with mayonnaise.

Hard-boiled eggs sliced thin and laid between buns cut in two in the center. Stuffed olives chopped fine between slices of bread and butter.

For a fruit sandwich. Dates seeded and laid between buns cut in halves. I want also to give my recipe for buns; very easy to make:

One cup hot water, one cup sweet milk, small piece shortening (about size of walnut), half cup granulated sugar, one cup soft yeast. (This makes of yeast foam water and flour.) Mix all ingredients and add enough flour to make into a sponge, at 3 o'clock. Just before going to bed stiffen into a loaf and add two teaspoons of ground cinnamon if desired. In the morning make into bun shape, place on buttered tins, let rise and bake.

The Table.—One day, by mistake, I had a large glass of preserved cherries emptied into a quart jar of baking molasses. This combination was too good to be wasted, so as an experiment, I used it in gingerbread, which proved to be so pleasing that now when I want it extra good I add the preserves in the same proportion, using the following recipe: One cup molasses and cherries preserve, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon lard and two cups flour sifted with 1-2 teaspoons baking powder. Sprinkle granulated sugar and broken English walnuts over the top and bake in moderate oven.

Queen Cake.—Beat one pound butter to a cream with a tablespoon of rose water; then add one pound fine white sugar; beat very light and add 1-4 pounds sifted flour, beat cake well together, then add one-half pound, stoned almonds, bleached and beaten to a paste; butter round in butter, line them with white paper, put in mixture 1-2 inches deep, bake one hour in quick oven. This is the queen of all cakes.

MAKING CROQUETTES.

There is one general understanding about croquettes, and that is they should be soft and creamy inside. The experienced housekeeper will often add bread or cracker crumbs or beaten egg to bind all together, but that detracts from the delicacy of the croquettes, except in nuts or potatoes. Begin by making the easier ones, such as potato or rice croquettes, which may be shaped at once while still warm; other mixtures are chilled after uniting with a cold, thick sauce.

When only a small amount of meat, fish or vegetable is left over the croquettes may be used as an entree or extra dish.

Preparing Crumbs.—In a previous article on "Good Things from the Bread Box" I told how to prepare crumbs for use, and these are much more attractive in the finished croquettes than cracker crumbs.

Preparing the Egg.—Break the egg into a soup plate or piepan and beat with a fork until well mixed. Mix with two teaspoonfuls of cold water. Every part of the surface of the croquette must be coated with the egg as well as with the crumbs. If not the heat and fat penetrate the center, causing the croquette to burst.

Fat for Frying.—There are good vegetable fats on the market for frying purposes, and if used anyone with the most delicate stomach can eat all foods fried in deep fat. It should be put into a deep kettle and heated quickly until a piece of soft bread will brown while counting twenty. A frying basket should be

Nut Croquettes.
Material—Bread crumbs, one cup; milk, one-half cup; mixed nuts or walnuts, one cup; yolks of eggs, two; salt and paprika; parsley (chopped) one teaspoonful.

Utensils—Measuring cup, teaspoon, bowl, chopping knife and bowl.

Directions.—Soak the stale white bread crumbs in the milk until absorbed. Mix this with all the seasonings and the chopped nuts together. Shape egg and crumbs as directed for potato croquettes and fry. If a sauce is served with these it should be a tart sauce and form a separate dish, as it takes away the crustiness from the croquettes when the sauce is served from the same dish.

Thick Sauce for Croquettes.

All meats are combined with a thick sauce for croquettes; use one tablespoon of butter, four tablespoonfuls of flour and one cup of milk or stock. Cook in the double boiler until thick; then add chopped chicken, veal, fish, vegetables or two or three combined is good, such as chicken and veal or chicken and sweetbreads, brains, mushrooms or oysters. About equal quantities of meat and sauce may be used. Much depends upon the moisture of the fish or meat. Remember that seasoning is a great art and it is never more desired than in croquettes.

GELATIN.

It is no longer necessary to use gelatin of animal origin, since a vegetable gelatin, prepared from Ceylon moss, possesses all the good properties of the animal gelatin without its serious objections. Most people do not know that the attractive dishes prepared largely from ordinary gelatin owe their dainty appearance to scraps of gristle, tendon and other fragments that cannot be more conveniently used for sausage or other "deviled" products of the slaughter house. The health department of Berlin has recently discovered that gelatin frequently contains arsenic, which is used in the treatment of hides used for gloves.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION.

BETTER THAN CASTOR OIL, CALOMEL OR CATHARTICS TO CLEANSE YOUR STOMACH, LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS. HARMLESS LAXATIVE FOR MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

Primitive folks did not need laxatives. They lived outdoors, ate plenty of fruit, and all of their food was coarse. We modern people are different. We exercise too little, eat little fruit, and our food is too fine—too rich.

We simply can't have our liver choked with sour bile and stomach full of foul effete matter and feel well. It means that the food and waste retained in the stomach and thirty feet of bowels ferments—decays. The decay creates poisons, gases and acids, and those poisons are sucked into the blood through the very ducts intended to suck in the nutriment. Then we have sick headache, become dull, bilious, tongue coated, nervous, meals don't digest and we feel miserable all over. So we must make our choice. We must live like primitive folks, else we must take artificial means to move the excess bile and waste matter on and out of the system.

The safest, most harmless and effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator for men, women and children—is delicious Syrup of Figs, which doesn't irritate, gripe or weaken. Its effect is the effect of fruits. It is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without harm.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and see on the label that it is prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. This is the only genuine—the old reliable. Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrup imitations sometimes offered to deceive you.

TAX COMMISSION IS BUSY WITH TANGLE

Numerous Complaints and Inquiries Regarding Personal Property Tax Offsetting to Income Tax.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—A score of complaints every day regarding what constitutes a personal property tax to the income tax. The income tax law provides that if a person or corporation has paid a personal property tax, say for the year 1912, the receipt for such tax may be presented to the tax collector in payment of income taxes which have become due in said year. So many inquiries are coming in that the tax commission has laid down a general rule on the subject.

"The personal property tax must be assessed against the same individual, corporation or partnership, that is assessed for an income tax in order to be able to avail himself of the offset," declared Nils P. Hagen, chairman of the state tax commission today.

An individual partner cannot use his personal property receipt as an offset in payment of the income tax of an individual partner.

In a number of cases the parties making out the income tax did not understand the law and certified larger receipts than they should. "The legislature will be asked to pass a law, applicable to the income tax for last year only, permitting the commission to give the individual credit on next year's taxes for any overpayments which he may have made this year."

While these mistakes should be corrected this year the commission does not believe that the law should be made permanent as this would only lead to continual negligence on the part of the taxpayers. The commission contends that, as the result of one year's operation of the law, the people will understand the law sufficiently so that no law allowing "future credit" should apply to more than the first year's collections.

A case was brought to the attention of the commission yesterday by the Token Creek Creamery company of Token Creek, where the creamery certified all of the amounts that had been paid to the patrons who brought milk to the factory as "income."

The factory contends that the amount paid the patrons was income to the patrons, taxable under the law, and not to the creamery company. Many other similar instances of this kind, involving small amounts, have arisen.

SIEWALK KETCHES.

ROLLER SKATING.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

ROLLER SKATING.

ROLLER skating is a form of social dissipation which has the unqualified approval both of the ministry and the home-setting profession. It is an exciting pastime, as one never knows when he will be run into by some devotee who has lost control of his steering gear and be thrown head first into the spectators' gallery.

Roller skating is usually practiced on a thoroughly ventilated rink which is heated by the breath of the skaters, compelling every body to keep in motion or freeze.

The average rink has plenty of leg room for 200 proficient skaters, but looks as small as a bedroom closet to a wide-eyed, loose-limbed beginner who has no direct supervision over his feet. When one of these animals is turned loose on the floor, he generally succeeds in falling on the back of his neck several times in succession, each time taking down with him a number of people who are not given time to decide whether they will alight on the left ear or the bridge of his nose.

"The roller skate is a treacherous article which is harder to stay on than a broncho with the stomach ache. It is attached to the ball of the foot by a fixed metal with defective eyesight, who feels perfectly satisfied if he feels within six inches of a fit. Ninety-ninths of our surgical operations are the result of roller skates which fit like a bathrobe on a mountain goat. If the skates are too short, the wearer is liable to tip over in front and impale himself on the hardwood floor after which he is upon with great animation by everybody who can get to him. If the skates are too long, the beginner proceeds to fall over backward and allows a long procession of preoccupied skaters to meander over his physique, depriving him of his vest buttons and breath.

The roller skating rink is a poor place in which to nourish pride. Many a tall, svelter stranger in white flannel pants has invaded a neighboring rink and endeavored to do the grape-vine twist for the benefit of the ladies, only to run into a ten-penny nail and slide feet first into the bandstand on his bare shirt front, being obliged to retire hurriedly to the dressing room for repairs.

FEEL BULLY? TAKE CASCARETS TONIGHT.

A 10 cent box will keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure, and fresh for months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passage way for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY Joy and good fortune are coming your way, and your best course is to stay where you are to receive them. You will form new friendships.

Those born today will be of serious natures and strong personalities, and cheerful companions and outdoor play are essential to them. Such activities will merge into artistic and successful careers. Their chief interests will be in literature, philosophy, and government.

WILL SUBMIT BILLS TO AID STATE FAIR

Assemblyman Charles H. Everett of Racine Wants New Poultry Building and Educational Building.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—Several important bills to promote the development of the Wisconsin state fair will be introduced in the legislature this week by Assemblyman Charles H. Everett of Racine, who has been a member of the state board of agriculture for a number of years.

Four years ago the legislature appropriated $20,000 to purchase the Flemming tract of land contiguous to the state fair grounds in Milwaukee. There immediately arose a controversy over the subject and the money has been lying idle in the state treasury.

Assemblyman Everett will introduce a bill to provide that this fund now be used to erect a new poultry building on the state fair grounds.

"The present poultry building is a makeshift affair and is wholly inadequate to the growing needs of the state fair," said Mr. Everett. "The exhibit of poultry has been increasing so fast that it is no longer possible to house these exhibits in the present building. I think this $20,000 will be sufficient to erect a building that will be a credit to the fair, the exhibitors and the state."

Another bill which Assemblyman Everett will introduce is for $15,000 for a new educational building and improvements to the present one on the state fair grounds. The legislature four years ago was supposed to have taken care of this contingency.

At that time an appropriation of $15,000 was agreed upon, but an error was made in passing the bill and one cipher was omitted from this appropriation called for. This gave only $1,500 for this purpose and was so inadequate that the state fair board never made any use of this small amount. Mr. Everett's bill will correct this error and will appropriate $15,000 for improving and rebuilding of the educational building.

The question of testing cattle for tuberculosis will again come before the legislature. The present law is not compulsory and provides that the owner of all cattle tested and found diseased will receive two-thirds of the appraised value of the animal condemned from the state. A maximum appraisal value of $60 is fixed and after July 1, 1913 no compensation will be paid. Assemblyman Everett contends that the period for which compensation will be paid should be extended two years, and will introduce a bill to that effect. He will also father a law providing for the recording of the names of farms with the county clerk. Under the bill no two farmers can claim the same name for their farms.

WILL JANESVILLE BE A DIVISION CENTER?

REPORTS CURRENT THAT RADICAL CHANGES IN OPERATION OF LINE ARE CONTEMPLATED.

TALK IS VERY RIFE NOW

That Proposed Yard Between This City and Milton Junction Merely Passage Extensive Operations.

For several years past the rumor has been heard from time to time that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad contemplated making extensive changes in its operating system, making Janesville a division headquarters and also running some of its through-coast-to-Chicago trains via this city. A line to the west, across the Mississippi has also been mentioned as one of the possibilities, but thus far nothing more than gossip has come of the projects.

Now, however, the Madison Democrat has become "serious" over the question, only it places the division headquarters at Milton Junction instead of Janesville. This might be possible but in view of the fact plans are known to have been drawn for additions to the local St. Paul depot, with large offices for the train dispatchers, it is probable that if any change is to be made Janesville will be the headquarters. The Democrat in a recent issue:

"It is understood that the officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company are seriously considering making Milton Junction a division point and double-tracking its lines between that station and Janesville. If the change is made, Madison will lose approximately 350 families. It was reported several years ago that the company was contemplating the removal of the West Madison yards to a point south of Madison. It was said that a site in the vicinity of Lakeside Park would be selected. If Milton Junction is made a division point, all trains will be made up at that place instead of Madison."

In support of this story it might be pointed out that plans for an extensive sorting yard between this city and Milton Junction were surveyed last year and that a portion of the tracks, running out from Milton Junction, were actually laid, the work being stopped early in the winter that the men employed might be utilized in Milwaukee and other large centers where repairs were needed. However, men have been working all winter.

Another report that makes the present rumor seem plausible is the report from Madison that the road contemplates erecting a large Union depot on the site of their East Madison station. As Madison has three roads running into the city, the Northwestern, St. Paul and a sub-line of the Illinois Central, this would mean that the Illinois Central would run from West Madison, where its present depot is located, to East Madison over the St. Paul tracks and also that the trains from the south, would run directly to East Madison, over a new track which would cut across the old one, near what is known as the Triangle as the line enters the city.

It is understood that this has been the one great objection to running trains directly from Chicago through Portage, to Minneapolis and St. Paul and thence to the coast. There was no way to turn the train around at West Madison and have it headed north properly. If the cut-off is now made it may mean that some of the through trains will pass through Janesville as soon as the tracks between Janesville and Madison can be relaid as it is stated they are not now sufficiently ballasted for heavy traffic.

There is also a report current that from Janesville west to Mineral Point, a gasoline car is to be installed, capable of doing ninety miles an hour, at a pinch, and holding sixty passengers. It is known the road has four of these in the Milwaukee shops and that one is to be used on their northern division, the second between Waukesha and Milwaukee while it is hoped one of the other two will be utilized between Janesville and Mineral Point.

Meanwhile work on the bridge across the Rock river at this point is being rushed to completion as fast as possible and it is said that as soon as the spring opening work will be resumed on the yards north of the city and also in the proposed alterations at the local depot. It is pointed out that when these are completed, even if the line to the west is not extended across the Mississippi, it will mean considerable shipping south, through Davis Junction.

TEACHER IS NAMED AT BOARD MEETING

Miss Grace E. Burdick of Easton, Wis. Added to Faculty at Training School.

DINNER STORIES

The head cashier of the Middleton Gas company stalked solemnly into the superintendent's office.

"Please send a man at once to take the meter at Mr. Johnson's house," he said, referring to a letter in his hand. "That's all right," replied the superintendent.

"entirely," he said. "We always throw meter complaints into the" The cashier held up his hand. Suspicion lurked in his eyes. "This is no complaint," he said, solemnly. "Mr. Johnson sends a check in payment of his account by return of post, and says he considers the charge very reasonable."

Miss Jacobson will devote her time during the remainder of the year to the practice teaching work which is part of the training for the members of the senior class.

Miss Burdick is a graduate of the Whitewater Normal school and comes highly recommended by the officers and faculty of the school. She has had several years' experience as teacher in rural schools.

The matter of supplies for several rooms in the Jefferson school building which will be used for the practice teaching work was also considered by the board. The rooms will be fitted up as soon as possible and will be in readiness for the second semester course.

The board members found the school's finances in good condition and decided that it would not be necessary to ask the county supervisors for an appropriation at the present time. They will make recommendations for an appropriation in the annual report of the school which will be submitted at the April meeting.

OPPOSES BARRING NEGRO FROM ARMY

Brig. Gen. C. R. Edwards.

The movement now on foot to bar negroes from the U. S. army is not regarded with favor by Brig. Gen. C. R. Edwards, in command at Fort D. A. Russell, near Cheyenne, Wyo. "There are few desertions among the negroes," recently declared Gen. Edwards. "A large number re-enlist, and as for their efficiency as soldiers, one distinguished statesman should be willing to testify. It was the Ninth cavalry, a colored regiment which figured so conspicuously at San Juan, and for the service of negro troops in the Philippines much can be said."

COACH WARNER HITS COLLEGE BASEBALL

Coach Glen Warner.

Glen Warner, athletic coach at the Carlisle Indian school, says that baseball in colleges should be abolished. "As long as colleges continue to develop baseball as one of the principal sports colleges will continue to turn out baseball players who will be in great demand and become professionals," recently declared Mr. Warner. "Our experience at Carlisle has convinced us that instead of baseball making men of the Indians it was apt to make bums of them."

A military gentleman who could swear better than he could play golf, was flattered one day to find quite a crowd of well-dressed strangers following him around.

"I hope," he said gallantly, "that I'll play well enough to reward you." "Oh, it isn't that, major," replied one, "we came to listen."

Once an old Scotch weather prophet at Whittingham informed Mr. Balfour that "It's gaun to rain seventy-two days, sir." "Come come!" said the statesman. "Surely the world was entirely flooded in forty days." "Aye, aye," was the response, "but the world wasna, sae well drained as it is noo."

Robert Louis Stevenson once went to hear Charles Halle play the piano at the Queen's Hall. After the performance Stevenson, in his black shirt, walked in silence out Regent street to Oxford circus. He stopped at Oxford circus and, in a slow, meditative voice, pronounced this excellent criticism on the English musician he had heard: "The manner of the elderly statesman at the piano was somewhat austere and chilling."

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

BE SIMPLE AND SINCERE.

There is a tendency in this age to get away from pretense, hypocrisy, insincerity and poses.

The tendency is from the artificial back to the natural.

In speech and writing it means to cut out the bifurcated-less rhetoric and more facts.

Don't talk for effect. Talk because you have something to say.

Be what you are. Say what you mean, not in a way to wound and offend others, but frankly and honestly.

Live within your means. To live beyond them deceives nobody for long and in the end spells disaster for yourself. Water seeks its level.

Don't pretend to know what you do not know. Don't dramatize. Dogmatism is usually the hall mark of ignorance.

Be simple. It was Tennyson who said of the Duke of Wellington:

And as the greatest only are in his simplicity sublime.

Abraham Lincoln schooled himself in youth to speak simply, to express every thought in common words and so bound and define it that a child could understand.

The result was the immortal Gettysburg oration.

We are discarding the frock coat and with it frock coated language and frock coated manners and methods.

We are getting rid of shams.

We are coming to know more and to pretend less.

Don't pose. Leave that to the dry goods store dummies.

Make believe don't go very far with real people, and the world is getting fuller every day of real people.

Advertisers are coming to recognize the wisdom of representing their goods exactly as they are. In the long run it is the only policy that pays.

It pays just as well with other people as with merchants.

The man who is worth while within himself has no need of seeming. There are plenty who know the real from the counterfeit, whether the counterfeit be coin or people.

If you are real gold have no fear that you will not be discovered. Only fear the acid test when the discovery is made.

Be honest, simple and sincere. Be yourself.

Primitive Race.

In the more inaccessible parts of the Sierra Madre mountains in northern Mexico live a curious people called the Tarahumaras. Many of them dwell in caves, but they have also small villages, all of them about 8,000 feet above sea level. The Tarahumaras are small in body, but possessed of much endurance. Their only food is maize, and they manufacture a drink called teshuin from the same cereal. Their language is limited to about 300 words, and they cannot count beyond ten.

AVERAGE SALARY OF RURAL TEACHERS IS ABOUT $40 A MONTH

Supt. Antisdell Sends in County Pension Fund Report to State Board at Madison.

Rural teachers in Rock county receive a total annual salary of $57,198.25 or an average salary of $44.37 a year for each of the 128 rural teachers, according to the report of County Supt. Antisdell on the pension fund which was sent Wednesday to Miss Elizabeth Herfuth, secretary of the state teachers' pension fund board, at Madison. H. C. Buell of this city is also a member of the board of three.

The report indicates that Rock county teachers in the rural districts are receiving an average salary of about $40 a month although the exact average monthly salary cannot be given as the school year varies in the different localities from eight to nine months. The total salary paid to school teachers in the three villages, Milton, Clinton and Orfordville, is $4,290. The salary list for Evansville is $8,162.50, while the superintendent was unable to secure a report from Edgerton.

Exclusive of the cities of Janesville and Beloit the amount paid into the pension fund for the year 1912 by Rock county teachers totals $309.96, distributed as follows: Rural school teachers, 223.86; village school teachers, $45.11; city of Evansville, $3.65; city of Edgerton, $37.35. This money has already been received at the county treasurer's office and has been forwarded to the state treasurer at Madison together with the amounts for Janesville and Beloit.

Supt. Antisdell stated that there was no exact way of telling just how many teachers in the county came under the pension fund act. He placed an estimate of 40 percent of the total under his supervision, or all the teachers in the county except those in Beloit and Janesville.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for whole family. You couldn't buy as much of a good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents a bottle) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps ease a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualic acid and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this form.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS ARE POURING IN

Madison, Jan. 16.—Assemblyman Edward Nordman of Langlade county issued a statement today declaring that Governor McGovern is proceeding on the wrong theory in advocating a rural credit system for the development of northern Wisconsin's unsettled acres. Himself a believer in the single tax, Mr. Nordman asserts that the control of the wild land and not some kind of fiduciary interests in it should be the basic ground for solution of the problem.

"Our governor in his message shows that he certainly is not informed in regard to the vital reasons for the slow development of northern Wisconsin," says Mr. Nordman. "He seems to think that some kind of a credit association, through which poor people can get long time loans at a low rate of interest with which to purchase land, will help out the situation. Let us look into this proposition:

"Suppose that it is made possible for every worthy person to get such a loan and that it resulted, as it probably would, in stimulating the demand for land. What then; would not this demand result in higher prices for raw land, and in the end would not the increased price largely nullify the benefits of easy money? We have found in the locality in northern Wisconsin that every movement of whatever nature that tended to draw settlers to the new lands of our county resulted in raising prices for such land sufficiently high to destroy the effect of the movement.

"The trust of the matter is that the vacant land problem of northern Wisconsin can not be effectively dealt with unless a way is found of controlling the prices of wild land. Personally, I believe in the single tax as a means to this end. If, however, a better way can be found, I shall of course be glad to support that.

"Undoubtedly the cry of confiscation will be raised when this solution of the question is attempted. However, to anyone having seriously considered the matter, this objection is not valid. Land is the most important of our national resources, and as such it is clearly a community asset. There can be no healthy normal expansion of industry and business that is not founded on the development of land. Any practice of custom, therefore, such as land speculation, that operates to put a check on land development is a check on all other forms of industry as well, and when it goes far enough is an important factor in producing the periodical industrial crisis known as panics and business depressions.

"The governor in his message made a number of valuable recommendations, but the part that relates to the development of the northern part of our state is not founded on scientific study and investigation."

Mr. Nordman is a farmer of wide note in this state and for many years was a member of the Wisconsin farmers' institute lecturing staff. He owns a model farm in Polar, Langlade county.

Assemblyman S. C. Goff of Elkhorn introduced a bill today providing that the same number of days shall be granted to city or village in which notice of action for injuries may be filed as is granted to a county or town. The present law gives a person fifteen days time to file notice of injury against a city or village and thirty days in the case of a county or town. Dr. Goff's bill would make the law uniform by fixing the period at thirty days. As mayor of Elkhorn, he is familiar with the need of legislation of this character.

"If thirty days is reasonable in the case of a city or village," he said, "fifteen days is unreasonable in the case of a county or village," he said today. "However, this puts all the claims, whether the claim is against the county or town, the city or village, on the same footing. It gives all citizens alike that equality to which they are entitled in a democracy."

A bill for joint guardianship of a child under age was introduced in the assembly this morning by Assemblyman C. D. Rosa of Beloit, who has been municipal judge of that city. The present statute provides that the father if living is the guardian of a minor child, and only in case of his death does the mother become the guardian. The present law also provides that a father has the power to will his child to someone else to act as guardian, to the exclusion of the mother.

Judge Rosa's bill provides for a joint guardianship in which neither father nor mother is given preference. If either dies, the other becomes the sole guardian. If they live apart, either may apply to the county court for definite action and the county shall settle the question which one shall act as the sole guardian of the child.

"To excavate, bore and recover certain metals and treasures, buried and hidden in the earth, on Oak Island," is the stated purpose of the Oak Island Salvage company of Soldiers Grove, which was incorporated here with capital stock of $20,000. The incorporators are S. A. Williams E. and A. E. Williams.

A wage exemption bill will appear in a new form at this session of the legislature. The measure will be presented by Assemblyman Charles H. Everett of Racine. His bill will provide that in order to claim the $60 exemption now allowed, the family of the wage earner must live within the state. In explanation of his proposed law he declares that many foreigners and others contract store bills and that in many cases these men have families living in the old country or in other states. They claim protection under the present wage exemption law. About the first thing that some of these men learn in coming to this country, he declares, is that there is an exemption of $60. He believes that the exemption should not operate unless the man claiming the exemption has a family living within the state.

VAN HISE QUOTING
PRICES ON LIVING

Argues That This Should Mean Increase in Professors' Salaries.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—The increased cost of corn meal, eggs, lard, pork chops, flour, Irish potatoes, sugar, ham and milk to instructors and professors of the University of Wisconsin is a sufficient justification for an increase in salary, according to President Charles R. Van Hise, whose biennial report to the legislature has just been received. That there should be no mistake over his conclusions he has submitted a detailed analysis to show the exact percent of increase in prices.

The average salary of professors at the university, including deans and directors for the last biennial period, was $3,235.71; associate professors $2,312.16; assistant professors $1,812.40 and instructors $1,212. The average salary for all is $1,925.09 as compared to $1,810.53 for the previous biennial period, or an increase of 6.3 percent.

"During the biennium the cost of living has continued to increase perhaps even more rapidly than ever before," continues President Van Hise. "For the year from June 15, 1911, to June 15, 1912, approximately the last year of the biennium, the increase in the cost of fifteen articles of food, which represent about two-thirds of the expenditures for food in the average family, is shown by the following table:

Articles	Percent of increase in prices.
Milk, fresh	2.4
Ham, smoked	2.7
Eggs	3.8
Sugar, granulated	6.0
Potatoes, Irish	7.6
Wheat flour	10.7
Pork chops	11.2
Lard, pure	11.3
Eggs, strictly fresh	11.8
Corn meal	12.7
Butter, creamery	15.3
Sirloin steak	17.1
Rib roast	17.5
Round steak	18.6

Upon this basis Dr. Van Hise points out that the increase in the cost of living is greater than the percentage of increase of salaries. He further declares that with other essential articles, such as anthracite and clothing, the increase has corresponded roughly with that in the cost of foods. During the past biennial period the increase of students at the university has been 16 percent, and the president declares that "it is probable the increase for the coming biennium will be not less than 15 percent."

WOULD ELIMINATE
BREWERY SALOONS

Legislative Fight Started Today on Bill to Prevent Breweries From Controlling Saloons.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—The preliminaries in a legislative fight to divorce the breweries from control over the retail liquor dealers of the state was started today by the introduction of a bill on this subject by Assemblyman Charles H. Pfennig of Kenosha. Pfennig does not father the bill, but introduced it by request. It is understood that the bill will be backed by the independent liquor dealers of the state. It is aimed they claim to break the strangle hold of the big breweries over saloonkeepers.

The bill prohibits a brewery from paying for the license of any person to conduct a saloon. Likewise it prohibits a brewery from holding a retail liquor license. While it permits a brewery owning buildings it makes a contract void with a brewery which contains a clause compelling a saloonkeeper who rents a building from a brewery to use the beer manufactured from that brewery.

A claim is made by some of the small breweries that the large breweries have practically a monopoly; that they own buildings in a large number of the cities of the state; that they pay for local licenses and hire a man to run the saloon, and that as a consequence the market for the beer manufactured by independent breweries is limited. It is their belief and contention that all breweries should compete for the sale of their own goods on the same grounds.

For the violation of any of the provisions of the act the penalties are severe. The offense is branded as a misdemeanor punishable with a fine of not less than $500 or more than $2,500. A similar bill was introduced in the assembly two years ago and was defeated by a close vote.

Assemblyman Pfennig will also introduce a bill fixing the price of hunting licenses to people who have not obtained their second papers as citizens of the United States at $25. This is the same license fee that is charged of non-residents of the state. The hunting license fee for full citizens he would leave at $1.00. Pfennig claims that many foreigners who come to this country obtain a hunting license and then parade over farmers' fields, without the permission of the owner of the land. As they cannot speak English it is almost impossible to keep them off the land.

As the result of sharing his room and bed with a stranger, a young man who came to Janesville to sort tobacco is minus his watch and three dollars. Both retired at about nine o'clock Tuesday night, but did not fall asleep at the same time. The older and more wakeful of the two evidently did not postpone his slumbers without purpose for when his companion awoke about two hours later he found him gone. An investigation revealed the fact that with him had sped his watch and three dollars. The police are making an investigation, but it has not yet borne fruit.

Generally Admitted Fact.

Little Ida, two years old, was watching her papa kill a chicken. After he had cut off the head and it was floundering around she watched it a few minutes, then said, "It makes a chicken kind a nervous to kill 'em, don't it, papa?"

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING. W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. Badger Drug Co.

Flaubert's First Novel.
Many hitherto unpublished works by Gustave Flaubert have appeared of recent years. None of them has been devoid of interest, but "November," now published by Conrad, is noteworthy. It was Flaubert's first novel, written in 1842, when he was twenty-one, and before all else a dreamer and lyrical. The story is of a young man who has lived in the realm of imagination.—The Athenaeum.

MOLLY McDONALD

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER
By RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc., etc.
Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

COPYRIGHT 1912 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

"The way is clear now, Miss Molly." There was no response, no movement. He stepped outside, thinking the girl must have failed to hear him. The porch was empty. He stepped from one end to the other, making sure she was not crouching in the darkness, scarcely able to grasp the fact of her actual disappearance. This, then, was why Mrs. Dupont had failed to see any one when she glanced out. But where could the girl have gone? How gotten away? He had heard no sound behind him; not even the rustle of a skirt to betray movement. It was not far to the ground, five or six feet, perhaps; it would be perfectly safe for one to lower the body over the rail and drop. The matted prairie grass under foot would render the act noiseless. No doubt that was exactly the way the escape had been accomplished. Alarmed by the presence of those others, suspecting that the woman within would insist on learning whom Hamlin was attempting to conceal, possibly overhearing enough of their conversation to become frightened at the final outcome, Miss McDonald, in sudden desperation, had surmounted the rail, and dropped to the ground. The rest would be easy—to hasten around the side of the house, and slip in through the front door.

Assured that this must be the full explanation, the Sergeant's cheerfulness returned. The company of officers and guests had already filed out through the hall; he could hear voices laughing and talking in the street, and the band tuning up their instruments across in the dance hall. He would go over and make certain of her presence, then his mind would be at ease. He passed out through the desert hallway, and glanced in at the dining-room, where a number of men were gathered up the dishes. Beyond this the bar-room was crowded, a ruffian lined up before the sloppy bar, among these a number in uniform—untattooed officers who had lattered behind to quench their thirst. Hamlin drank little, but lingered a moment just inside the doorway, to observe who was present. Unconsciously he was searching for Dupont, half inclined to pick a quarrel deliberately with the fellow or with Connors, determined if he found the little rat alone to frighten whatever knowledge he possessed out of him. But neither worthy appeared. Having assured himself of their absence, Hamlin turned to depart, but found himself facing a little man with long hair, roughly dressed, who occupied the doorway. The hooked nose, and bright eyes, peering forth from a mass of untrimmed gray whiskers, were familiar. "You keep the junk shop down by the express office, don't you?"

"Yop," briskly, scenting business in the question. "I'm Kaplan; but could I do for you—hey?"

"Answer a question if you will, friend. Do you recall selling a haversack to a traveler on the last stage out for Santa Fe in June?"

"Vol, I do; was he a big fellow? Maybe do you vat was killed—hey?"

"Yes; his name was Moylan, post-sutler at Fort Marcy."

"Maybe dot vat you it. Why you want to know—hey?"

"No harm to you, Kaplan," the Sergeant explained. "Only I picked it up there after Moylan was killed, and discovered by some writing on the flap that it originally belonged to a friend of mine. I was curious to learn how it got into your hands."

The trader shrugged his shoulders. "Yud it be worth a drink?" he asked calmly.

"Of course. Frank, give Kaplan whatever he wants. Now, fire away."

"Vel," and the fellow filled his glass deliberately. "It was sold me six months before by a fellow vat had a black beard—"

"Dupont?"

"Dat vos de name ov de fellar, yes. Now I know it. I saw him here again soon. You know him?"

"By sight only; he is not the original owner, nor the man I am trying to down there tonight."

"Yes, sir," hesitatingly. And then venturing the inquiry: "May I ask if Major McDonald has returned to the post?"

"McDonald? No," he glanced at his watch. "He had orders to go east to Ripley on the stage. That was due out about an hour ago."

"To Ripley? By stage?" the Sergeant repeated the words, dazed.

"Why—why, what has become of Miss McDonald?"

The officer smiled, shaking his head. "I'm sure I don't know, my man," he returned carelessly. "Come back with Barrett and his ladylove, likely. Why?"

suddenly interested by the expression on the other's face. "What's happened? Is there anything wrong?"

CHAPTER XXII.

A Deepening Mystery.

Startled and bewildered as Hamlin was by this sudden revelation, he at once comprehended the embarrassment of his own position. He could not confess all he knew, certainly not the fact that the girl had met him secretly and had vanished while he was endeavoring to turn aside Mrs. Dupont. He must protect her at all hazards. To gain time, and self-control, he replied with a question:

"Did not Connors drive them down, sir?"

"Yes, the four of them."

"And Major McDonald knew then that he was ordered East?"

"No, the order came by telegram later. An orderly was sent down about ten o'clock. But see here, Sergeant, I am no Bureau of Information. If you have anything to report, make it brief."

Hamlin glanced at the face of the other. He knew little about him, except that he had the reputation of being a capable officer.

"I will, sir," he responded quickly; "you may never have heard of the affair, but I was with Miss McDonald during a little Indian trouble out on the trail a few months ago."

The officer nodded. "I heard about that; Gaskins brought her in."

"Well, ever since she has seemed grateful and friendly. You know how some women are; well, she is that kind. Tonight she came to me, because she didn't seem to know whom else to go to, and told me of some trouble she was having. I realize, Captain Kane, that it may seem a bit strange to you that a young lady like Miss McDonald, an officer's daughter, would turn for help to an enlisted man, but I am telling you only the truth, sir. You see, she got it into her head somehow that I was square, and—and, well, that I cared enough to help her."

"Wait a minute, Sergeant," broke in Kane, kindly, realizing the other's embarrassment, and resting one hand on his sleeve. "You do not need to apologize for Miss McDonald. I know something of what is going on at this post, although, damn me if I've ever got on to the straight facts. You mean that Dupont woman?"

"Yes, she's concerned in the matter, but there are others also."

"Why couldn't the girl tell her father?"

"That is where the main trouble lies, Captain. Major McDonald seems to be completely under the control of Mrs. Dupont. He is apparently afraid of her for some reason. That is what Miss Molly spoke to me about. We were on the side porch at the hotel talking while the dancers were at supper—it was the only opportunity the girl had to get away—and Mrs. Dupont and her husband came into the parlor."

"Her husband? Good Lord, I thought

"Yes, sir," hesitatingly. And then venturing the inquiry: "May I ask if Major McDonald has returned to the post?"

ONE GOOD RESOLUTION.

One good resolution for you is to pay up your bills when they're due; to hand out the tin with a soul warming grin, and say something nice when you're through. This method's a method that wins; it covers a legion of sins; the town will forgive many follies that live in the man who pays us as he grins. I know I'm a weary old bore, with stories I tell o'er and o'er; yet all through the land I get the glad hand, in office in parlor and store; for I pay up my bills with a smile, without exhibitions of bile; and you don't hear me say to collectors, "Go 'way! Your bills I'll pay after while."

Oh, it's true that the human galeot can't have a much better reputation than the fame he will win when the bills are sent in, and he pulls a big roll from his boot. You may have a beautiful face, you may be a model of grace; but if you are slow paying up what you owe, you won't stack as high as an ace. You may be both gifted and wise, and genius may burn in your eyes; but if you don't pay in the old-fashioned way, the townsmen will greet you with sighs. So hand out the glittering swag from the depths of your long money bag; pay up with a smile, in a sportsmanslike style, and never stand chewing the rag.

Be Honest With Children.

It should need no long discussion to convince parents that, if they want their children to be honest and straightforward, they must be honest and straightforward in dealing with their little ones. Children are such ardent imitators that it behooves their elders to set the best example for them in speech and action.

If you are out of a job, or would like to change your occupation, let a want ad do the soliciting for you.

Euphemia, Ohio.—"Because of total ignorance of how to care for myself when verging into womanhood, and from taking cold when going to school, I suffered from a displacement, and each month I had severe pains and nausea which always meant a lay-off from work for two to four days from the time I was 16 years old."

"I want to Kansas to live with my sister and while there a doctor told me of the Pinkham remedies but I did not use them then as my faith in patent medicines was limited. After my sister died I came home to Ohio to live and that has been my home for the last 18 years."

"The Change of Life came when I was 47 years old and about this time I saw my physical condition plainly described in one of your advertisements. Then I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot tell you or any one the relief it gave me in the first three months. It put me right where I need not lay off every month and during the last 18 years I have not paid out two dollars to a doctor, and have been blessed with excellent health for a woman of my age and I thank Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it."

"Since the Change of Life is over I have been a maternity nurse and being self-supporting I cannot over estimate the value of good health. I have now earned a comfortable little home just by sewing and nursing since I was 52 years old. I have recommended the Compound to many with good results, as it is excellent to take before and after childbirth."—Miss EVELYN ADELIA STEWART, Euphemia, Ohio.
